

NLCA Limerick Competition, 2002

Gloucester Road can't decide what it's there for,
If coming or going or wherefore.
Turn left at Fred Place
Right-hand traffic you'll face,
Which I don't partic'larly care for.

A meeting of NLCA
Is delightful in more than one way.
There's talent galore,
Of wisdom there's more,
So come and enjoy the display.

The people who plan one-way streets
Have a logic which reason defeats.
The narrowest way
Bi-direction'l doth stay,
So causing some irate retreats.

In Gardner Street once stood a beacon
Of peace which we all are a-seekin'.
But the rent was increased
And the building re-leased.
The light was snuffed out in plain speakin'.

There's a site of some size near the station
Which is causing a deal of frustration.
For myself I must say
I'll welcome the day
When they seal the negotiation.
